...with PGP International Ingredients!

As a leading developer and manufacturer of grain-based ingredients, PGP International provides a health based ingredient solution for you and your customers.

We formulate and make a variety of traditional and alternative grain-based ingredients that include extruded particulates, millet and sorghum flours, rice flours and blends and functional grain-based ingredients.

Our rice flours may be used in gluten-free formulations for cookies, breads and other bakery applications. Our extruded particulates are perfect for making a whole grain or organic claim to any energy, meal replacement or nutritional bar products.

Let our technology team create and develop an ingredient solution that is just right for you.

Build your products on a strong foundation with PGP International.
