Plant-based diets for sustainability and health

23% of consumers globally report that they are trying to limit their meat intake* in an effort to be healthier and more sustainable. Consumers are therefore increasingly looking to plant-based protein sources as part of a flexitarian diet.

PROLIFICA - PGP International's Texturized Protein Product Line

Our new range of texturized pea and soy proteins are a more sustainable and healthier alternative to traditional products. They offer more versatility and creativity in the development of familiar products using plant-based meats which help consumers to be more sustainable or healthier while still enjoying the taste and textures of meat.

Our textured protein is from high quality pea or soy protein and we are currently offering six product variations for protein and size to accommodate more end-product applications, such as:

- Plant-based burgers
- Plant-based meatballs
- Plant-based sausages
- Plant-based ground meat
- Seasoned meat replacements
- Meat extensions
